Irma Branch Canadian Legion Hold Meeting

A very successful meeting of the Irma Branch Canadian Legion was held in Hedley's hall on Wednesday evening, October 24th.

On account of the resignation of the secretary-treasurer, Mr. L. M. Roberts, who is moving to Edmonton, nominations for this office were called for, which resulted in Mr. Harry Carter being elected by acclamation.

Arrangements were made for the sale of poppies again this year. The armistice dance will be held in Kiefer's hall on Wednesday evening, November 14th. The music will be supplied by Coulman's orchestra. After the business for the evening had been concluded the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, who also were in attendance, served a delightful lunch.

STRAYED—From N. W. 18-45-8-4, one brown mare, 3 years, white spot on forehead and short white hind feet; and one bay mare, 2 years, crooked white stripe on forehead and short white hind feet. Jas. Fenton, owner, phone 207, Irma.

ROOSEVELT DROPS UPTON SINCLAIR

Washington, Oct. 27.—The Roosevelt administration definitely turned away from Upton Sinclair Friday, dropping unmistakable indications that it does not care to have the former Socialist elected as Democratic governor of California.

A growing belief here that the administration would withhold support from Sinclair further was solidified Friday by publication of a letter to the Democratic gubernatorial candidate from George Creel, withdrawing his backing. Creel was an unsuccessful candidate for the nomination.

Australian Commonwealth

Winnipeg, Man., October 27. — A budget surplus each year for the past three years, and taxation substantially reduced was the picture of financial conditions in the Australian Commonwealth brought to Winnipeg recently by Mr. Justice H. D. Macrossan, Brisbane, senior justice of the supreme court of Queensland, who is touring Canada over Canadian National lines.

There are staid and sober governments throughout the Commonwealth, he said. The great recovery of the island continent he attributed in part to the encouragement given to prospecting, which has been marked by increased mineral production, especially gold. In addition, the increased prices for last year's wool clip had added 30,000,000 pounds sterling to the general income. Australia, he added, is rich in all natural resources, except oil. Its vegetable products range all the way from tropic to temperate.

Canadian Legion members will soon be going the round selling poppies made by disabled veterans in Veterans' shops. It is hoped everyone will buy a poppy and thereby help support these disabled soldiers.

A social credit broadcast is given over station C.F.C.N., Calgary at 9 p.m. every Tuesday.

CAUCUS CALL SENT TO U. F. A. MEMBERS

Edmonton, Oct. 27.—U.F.A. members of the legislature have been summoned to the parliament buildings for Thursday, and Friday of this week to discuss a number of important governmental questions, it was learned Saturday.

The call to members went out from Premier Reid but the exact agenda for the meeting is not known. It is believed there is no probability of a fall provincial election being discussed.

At the last U.F.A. session in the parliament buildings the members asked that Major Douglas submit a modified social credit scheme that might be applied to this province.

It is expected that further discussion on the question of social credit, introduced in the session last year will take place.

The members also are likely to discuss legislation that may be brought down by the government in the 1935 legislature.

Wedding Bells

BESS—SCOTT

A quiet marriage was solemnized on Wednesday, October 24th at Vermilion, when Miss Elsie Scott, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott of Orbindale district, became the bride of Mr. Edgar Bess, formerly of southern Alberta.

The bride was pleasingly attired in white silk crepe with lace trimmings. After the wedding party returned to the home of the bride's parents, a large crowd gathered for a shower and dance. A delicious lunch was served at midnight and the dance proceeded until the wee small hours. A table was filled with many pretty and useful gifts for the happy couple who received many congratulations and good wishes for a happy journey through life.

Mr. and Mrs. Bess left on Sunday morning by motor for a short honeymoon at the home of the groom's parents in southern Alberta. James Carter was the chauffeur.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott and Mr. Arthur Pheasay accompanied the bridal couple to Vermilion on Wednesday.

United Church Notes

Next Sunday we are holding our anniversary services which will be held at Passchendaele, Roseberry and Irma at the usual hours. The special preacher for the occasion is the Rev. A. S. Tuttle, M.A., D.D., principal of St. Stephen's college and president of the Alberta Conference. Dr. Tuttle is an outstanding speaker and none should miss the opportunity of hearing him. We are looking forward to large congregations on Sunday.

On Monday the usual anniversary supper and evening meeting will be held. The supper will begin at 6 p.m. for which there will be a small charge, followed by the public meeting. There will be a short program and an address by the Rev. H. Dobson, B.A., D.D., associate secretary of the department of Evangelism and Social Service. Dr. Dobson is well-known throughout the church for his platform ability and as a close student of the usual hours. He is sure to have a most rousing message. He has been here before, and we remember his remarkable addresses of two years ago. We extend a most cordial invitation to all our friends to share with us in the inspiration of these meetings.

PREMIER REID GETS ACCLAIM

Manville, Oct. 27.—Hon. H.G. Reid, premier of Alberta, was again nominated as the standard bearer of the Vermilion constituency at the U.F.A. and U.P.W.A. convention held here Thursday. Mr. Reid has been member for this district since 1921.

Election of officers for the constituency association was held following the nomination.

In his acceptance speech, Mr. Reid reviewed the activities of his government and asked for support for a continuance of these endeavors.

Alfred Speakman, M. P. for Red Deer, gave an address on the federal Marketing Act. Outlining in detail the various activities of the proposed act, Mr. Speakman urged that farmers get acquainted with its provisions.

H. E. Spencer, M.P. for Battle River, also spoke on the Central Bank and the revision of the Banking Act, as carried out in the past session of parliament.

STARK TRAGEDY

Silently and without comment, the operator allows a stream of golden pellets to trickle through his bony fingers. Nervously he watches the balance. There must be no mistake. Not a thousandth part of a dram too much. Not the weight of a hair too little. The ingredients must be exact. The occasion demands it.

Carefully the dose is measured and weighed, then one by one, with shaking hand, he drops the glittering particles into the dark brown fluid.

Without turning to note the tense faces of associates, he quickly seals the receptacle, and with deft precision deposits it in its niche in the infernal machine.

With a mighty effort he controls his quaking nerves, and turns the key. As the current begins to mix with the liquid a startling transformation takes place. With bloodshot eyes, those looking on can only gasp and stare as the elements bubble and spit and foam.

The only audible sounds are the deep breathing of the men and the sinister hissing of the liquid as it gurgles and leaps in the bowl in a mad effort to escape.

With his eyes glued on the indicator, the operator silently watches as the minutes drag by—five—ten—fifteen. "Careful heavens! What will the end be?"

Another minute goes by and another. Still he sits with his eyes on the indicator. A nauseating odor permeates the atmosphere of the small room. The stillness of death is upon the little group. No one speaks. One man is seen to wipe his perspiring brow with the sleeve of his coat. The physical and mental strain is tremendous. The fluid is mounting higher and higher in the glass. One-seventy; one-seventy-five. Still the operator does not move.

With grim certainty, those present desperately await the outcome—One-seventy-eight—One seventy-nine—shuts off the current. With bated breath and tense nerves the men know the end has come at last. Coolly the operator lifts the deadly vial, holds it to the light, and, with practical eye, scans its markings. Suddenly he speaks—Fifteen—fifteen-two? fifteen-four? then for the first time he lifts his eyes to the agonized group before him. "Gentlemen," he says, "your wheat is tough!"—Wainwright Star.

VERMILION IS HOST AT BIG GRIT PARLEY

Vermilion, Oct. 30.—With large deputations attending from a dozen Eastern Alberta localities, the Provincial Liberal Party, headed by Mr. W. R. Howson, its leader, held another highly successful Economic Conference here on Monday.

Orange Hall was crowded beyond capacity at the afternoon conference, and also at an evening public rally. Four members of the Legislature, one Federal member and four nominated Liberal candidates were active participants with the provincial leader and problems of vital import to the eastern area were presented firsthand by residents and threshed into germinative seed for future legislative action.

Manville, Innisfree, Vegreville, Viking, Wainwright, Beaulieu, Duvernay and other communities were all represented at the conference by large delegations and despite a heavy white frost fog which enshrouded the country at night, all remained until the wind-up, although a number remained at Vermilion overnight rather than tackle the difficult drive home.

Chairmanship duties were divided at the two sessions between Charles Robinson, president of the Vermilion Liberal Association, and J. D. Adam. Upon the platform with Mr. Howson were Hon. Charles Stewart, M. P., L. A. Giroux of Grouard, Hugh Macdonald of Wetaskiwin, A. P. Mitchell of Leduc, four Liberal legislative members, and also four Liberal candidates; Arthur P. Hunter of Innisfree; P. T. Milne of Wainwright; H. G. Thunell of Sedgewick and R. M. Lee of Ribstone.

It is people themselves who are to blame, and it is well nigh impossible to identify the culprits because the glaring lights renders the taking of car license number extremely difficult. It is public opinion that must first be aroused and educated to put a stop to these violations. It is not legislators, governments and police forces which alone have responsibility in this matter; the greatest responsibility rests with the individual citizen. And until individual citizens in far greater numbers than at present discharge that responsibility, humanity must pay the price, and this terrible blot rest upon our much vaunted civilization.

THE TENDERFOOT

By
GEORGE B. RODNEYAuthor of "The Coronado Trail",
"The Canyon Trail", Etc.

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen near to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

But Keene decided to go see what was happening for himself—not as Gerald Keene, half owner of the Hour-glass Ranch, but as Duro Stone, tenderfoot in a Montgomery Ward wilderness outfit.

Dad Kane, desert rat and luckless prospector till now, is returning to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, owners of the Broken Spur ranch, who had grubstaked him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of the ore. He sees Broken Spur men rustling Hour-glass cattle and protests against it.

Joe Carr's daughter, Edith, repulses Dustin when he wished to make her acquaintance, saying when she walked with a man, it would not be with a squaw man. He plans revenge, but has had no opportunity so far. Affairs on the ranch going from bad to worse, Joe Carr takes to drink.

(Now to On With the Story)

Spike gaped at him. Then very slowly realization came. His eyes gleamed and his red face got redder and his wire-stiff beard seemed to bristle like the mane of an angry bound.

"You know how these damned old fools of prospectors talk. They matters worse old Kane can square himself with Joe Carr by lettin' him in on what he found on the Hour-glass land. See now?"

never see any one to talk to in six months. When they got a chance the dam gives way and there's a flood. If old Dad Kane goes in to Seco he'll tell about his gold-fund just as sure as God made him.

Still Spike stared at him. The full import of what Dustin said had not yet sunk in.

"They'll hardly dare tell what they done," he growled. "I'll mean jail for them, too."

"They'll turn State's evidence and get exemption. That's the way Burke, the Prosecutor Attorney, wins his cases. You poor fool. Can't you see? You'll look good in a striped suit . . . if it gets that far."

"What do you mean by that? If it get that far?"

"Huh. That's easy. We're none too popular in the Valley. There ain't a Dry Farmer in thirty miles that don't want our holdin's. If we win that suit over Soda Springs I'll throw 'em on public lands. They'll be open to all the Dry Farmers. They can water their sheep there, too. That'll ruin 'em for cattle. Even you know that . . ."

Spike nodded at that truth; the real reason for the constant feud between sheep and cattle-men.

"It will make no difference to you an' me," said Dustin hotly. "We'll be tucked away where nobody can hurt us. I tell you. We're in a hell of a mess. Old Dad Kane know now just what our men have been doin'. Those men will swear, to clear themselves, that they were only carryin' out orders from us. I'll all come out . . . To make

Spike Goddard licked his lips in silence and stared at his partner with a feral glare that promised ill to his enemy. He was not a particularly strong man but like most men of his kidney, when driven to bay he could fight desperately.

"Well," he croaked, "what's the answer?"

"That's easy . . ." Dustin drew a breath of relief. To plan as he had planned in the last ten minutes was one thing. But man planning devilment needs help. He knew now that he could count on Spike as never before. Dustin went on:

" . . . You and me, Spike, have made too much off the Hour-glass to let it ever get into court. Even old man Carr with all his drunken suspicions, don't know what we've milked him for. Thank the Lord we've been too careful to show the source of our income but . . . We've got a nice wad of cash right now in the office safe. Too dangerous to put it in the Seco bank. I figured we might need it for a get-away if some one spills the beans. . . . Like old Dad Kane. He can do it any minute he chooses to open his mouth and talk. The matter boils down to this . . . Old Dad Kane has come in here with the finest ore we've ever seen. It was found on the Hour-glass lands and old man Carr doesn't know of it. While he was lookin' for that ore, old Kane found some of our men at work and can send us to jail for what he saw 'em doin'. Get me? You know what's got to be done. I needn't name it. What's the answer?"

Spike Goddard knew that answer but like his partner he dared not put it in speech. Dustin finally dared it.

"Old Kane has got to show us where he found the stuff and then he's got to disappear," he said.

For a long moment silence fell; a silence in which a cricket in the wall chirped loudly and the ticking of the cheap clock on the table sounded like the crack of doom. Spike poured himself another drink. He needed it badly. He knew what was meant.

"How?" he asked hoarsely.

"The less you know personally about it the better for us both," said Dustin. "It's a one-man job and I trust no other man where my own life is at stake. All I say is that I'm not goin' to jail to please old man Kane or Carr either. Suit you?"

"It sure does . . ." Spike had sudden visions of himself in a striped suit and he did not admire it. "I'll help you . . ."

"Help me hell," said Dustin fiercely. "I tell you it's a one-man job . . . One-and-a-half that. First I'm goin' in to Seco on business. Be sure you keep old Dad Kane here. Don't let him leave on any excuse. Tell him I've gone to make arrangements for him to go back to open the mine. Keep him here till I get back. I want to find out all I can about old man Carr's finances."

"Huh. From all I hear he ain't got any. How'll you find out?"

"I've got ways you never thought of . . ." Dustin grinned as a coyote grins at sight of game. "The really big thing for us just now is to make Kane show us exactly where his location is. I'd be right bright to have him disappear and then find out we don't know where he found the gold."

He poured himself another drink and picked up his hat.

"I'll be on my way," he said. "Be sure you ride hard on Kane."

Spike watched the departing car and when its following dust-cloud was swallowed up turned away to the kitchen.

He was under no illusions as to what Dustin meant when he said that Kane must disappear. During the many years of their partnership he had seen some curious things. Sometimes he thought that that very partnership was the only reason for their mutual safety. Either could hang the other by too much talk: He knew Dustin was cautious and ruthless and he knew suddenly that his "find" of old man Kane would put them both beyond any further need of more money. Dustin was right.

"He'll probably bring home the bacon," he muttered. "Even if he has to kill somebody else's hog to get it."

That was exactly what Sam Dustin proposed to do. He knew that the consciencesleed out over Soda Springs had cost Carr more than he had. He knew that the Broken Spur depredations on the herds of the Hour-glass had put that ranch in the red. He was sure that Joe Carr must owe a lot of money and he meant to find out to whom he owed it. Dustin believed in the strong hand and he knew that Solomon was right when he said: "The borrower is servant to the lender." It was dark when he parked his car before the sheet-iron-fronted saloon in Seco. He strode down the main street, turned off at a dark alley and stopped at a little frame bungalow set well back in a clump of dusty Chinaberry trees. The door flew open at his knock and, almost instantly, an old woman holding a stinking kerosene lamp above her head, stood facing him.

"Evenin', Miss Peters," he said civilly enough, "Sim in?"

"He went for the mail," said Mrs. Peters. "He ought to be back in a minute. Come in, Miss! Dustin. There comes Sim now," she added.

Something To Know

If you want to revive wilted lettuce or other salad greens, put them in a pan of ice water to which has been added a cupful of vinegar. Let them set for half an hour and they'll be quite crisp. Incidentally, if you wrap lettuce in a damp towel and stick the ends of the towel in a dish of water, it will keep fresh for days.

Practically every part of the cow, including the blood, is used in making aeroplanes.

Unique Vicks Plan For Better Colds-Control

HOW VICKS PLAN WORKS

Following years of research on the problem of colds, Vicks Chemists have developed a new aid in preventing colds—Vicks Va-tro-nol, for nose and throat. This new Vicks preparation is the ideal companion to Vicks VapoRub, the modern method of treating colds.

These two Vicks preparations, together with a few simple rules of health, form the unique Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. The helpfulness of the Plan in reducing the number and duration of colds has been clinically tested by physicians. (Full details of the Plan are in each package of Vicks Va-tro-nol and of Vicks VapoRub.)

Briefly, here is how Vicks Plan works:

To Help Prevent Colds

Watch yourself and children after exposure to any condition that you know is apt to be followed by a cold, such as:

Contact with others having fresh colds—crawls, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms, public places—sudden changes in temperature—excesses in living, such as over-eating, smoking or drinking, which reduce body resistance.

Change of Climate, Diet, Water

Often the Cause of Diarrhoea

The old reliable remedy—Hinds Honey and Almond Cream—is still a favorite remedy after being on the market for over 50 years. Ever since 1875 this soothing, healing lotion has been the choice of men and women in every walk of life, for its instant relief from suffering, rapid healing, and remarkable protective qualities.

In cold weather, hands, neck and face need protection to keep them free from chapping and danger of infection. Hinds Honey and Almond Cream is easy to use—quickly absorbed by the skin and leaves no trace of stickiness. Men like it after shaving. Any druggist can supply you.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hadlow spent most of the week in the city.

Mr. Thos. Saunders is sporting a new Ford V-8.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Skiles were visitors in town the first of the week.

Mr. S. S. Sanderson of Edmonton visited in Irma and district last week.

Date to remember—November 14; big armistice dance in Keifer's hall, Irma. Don't miss it.

Mr. Beacock is busy painting and re-modelling the old bakery preparatory to opening a restaurant in the near future.

The Irma C.G.I.T. are again holding their regular weekly meetings. This year Mrs. N. S. Johnson has very kindly consented to act as leader of the group.

Mrs. Ernest Mills and daughter Erna of Edmonton are guests at the home of Mrs. Mills' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Smallwood.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. G. W. Hardy, in honor of his son Ivan, who is leaving Tuesday to attend the Vermilion school of agriculture. A buffet lunch was served, after which games were played and a social hour was enjoyed by all present. At the close of the evening Mrs. H. H. Currie, grandmother of the honor guest, presented Ivan with a gift. Ivan in a few well chosen words thanked those present.

The poppies sold by the Canadian Legion are made in Veteran workshops by our disabled comrades, and, in many respects the production of these symbols in the only means of subsistence for most of them. Poppy day is the one day of the year on which the Canadian Legion solicits funds from the public; and these funds are used entirely for Service Bureau work and relief purposes.

Messrs. Timbers and Fillion are still in and around Irma giving super health lectures and are finding many very enthusiastic patrons. These health lectures are well worth hearing, for besides being educational, they are interesting, and after all, dieting is much to be preferred to regulate the system of the human being rather than drugs or surgery. Invite your friends in for a party. If you can get in touch with Mr. Timbers he will arrange to cook a health dinner and serve it so the hostess will be able to entertain her guests. After the dinner Mr. Timbers will tell you all about cooking, dieting, etc., to enable you to enjoy super health. Mr. Fillion puts the kitchen in order so the hostess has no late working hours after the party. If you wish to give your friends a real treat, arrange for a super health lecture while Mr. Timbers and Mr. Fillion are still in the vicinity.

University Announces Play-Writing Contest

The Department of Extension of the University of Alberta announces the third annual play-writing competition open to residents of the province of Alberta. This competition is made possible through the generosity of the Carnegie Foundation.

A prize of $125 will be awarded for the best three act play; a prize of $75 for the best one act play; and a prize of $50 for a third play chosen from either group. The judges may reserve awards, should they feel that

PRIMARY PURPOSE OF GOVERNMENT

The primary function of any government is to promote the material welfare and prosperity of all the people, regardless of vocation. Each individual has chosen his calling primarily as a means of making a living for himself and his dependents, and then through his services benefit and serve mankind. Any government that fails to assist the citizenry in their efforts, especially in the trying times through which the world in general has gone through the past five years, has been lacking in the primary purpose for which it was elected. Every avenue, every means and every assistance should be given those who are not today in a position to earn a livelihood. In an age of plenty there should be no starvation nor anyone lacking in the usual comforts of life. The security of homes and a chance to earn a living, or in lieu of that, no one should go hungry or without sufficient clothing and shelter. Any government that does not lend its whole-hearted program to the alleviation of the most vital necessities of the people has no business being in power. The welfare of humanity should come before the wages of money.

CHARGES AGAINST UNIVERSITY

Religious teaching, or rather religious thought, has been under fire in the Alberta University the past two weeks. It has been charged by the clergy in the city that the teachings or preachings of certain university professors have been detrimental to the religious beliefs of the student body. In a large sense the university is a place for individual thinking and decision in the future conduct of students, coming from all walks of life to an institution supported by the state, an open mind has to be maintained by the faculty to all students. All religious beliefs are represented there. Students reaching university status are supposed to be able to think for themselves. The first purpose of a university lecturer or professor is guidance along that line, awakening within the latent student mind avenues of thought that set him or her thinking more deeply of the fundamentals of every day life. The university trained man or woman should be able to interpret those fundamentals more ably than one who has not had that opportunity. That is the purpose of any university. Today when the world is shaking under upheavals that are tearing down the accepted rule of things, a university professor should be the guiding principle in the lives of those who seek knowledge in the changing order of things as they have been and in the new order that is sure to come. There is sufficient material for university teachers to present the present generation without disturbing the student's religious beliefs. This is not a new question at the Alberta or any other university. The question has come up for years. Students generally follow the religious teachings of their early life regardless of what universities may present or seem to disturb.

VALUE OF ECONOMIC CONFERENCES.

The lead of the Liberal party to hold Economic Conferences in all parts of the province is commented on very favorably in neighboring provinces: "The object of these Conferences is," as the Saskatchewan Star-Phoenix has recently so aptly expressed it, "A seeking to know the will of the people and providing the party with the various views of different parts of the country and allowing it to form a wide and comprehensive policy for the good of the whole province. Whatever may be one's political creed it will be readily admitted by all that the holding of such meetings is a move in the right direction. All reforms have originated amongst the people, and the present is the one time for a full and frank discussion by all forward-looking persons of provincial problems in search of solutions for them. Such an opportunity is being furnished by Mr. W. R. Howson, M.L.A., the leader of the Liberal Party in Alberta, by this series of Economic Conferences."

the plays submitted are of insufficient merit to justify a decision.

Rules of the competition are:

(1) The contest is open to any resident of Alberta.

(2) The play must be the original work of the competitor and must not have been previously published or submitted.

(3) It is desired that the playwright should be left as unhampered as possible by rules and regulations. However it is suggested that the play have a Canadian background if possible.

(4) The play may be in any number of scenes or acts, the playing time not to be less than 30 minutes and not to exceed 2 1/2 hours.

(5) Competitors are advised to submit copies, not original scripts, as the return of the copy is not guaranteed.

(6) All plays are to be typewritten, double spaced, on one side of regulation bond paper, 8 1/2 x 11, with a margin of two inches.

(7) The Carnegie Trust Committee and Department of Extension reserve the right to produce any of the plays without payment of royalty within one year after the contest closes.

(8) The competition closes on February 2, 1935. Plays bearing a postmark later than February 2nd will not be accepted.

(9) Plays should be submitted to Mr. E. A. Corbett, Director of the Department of Extension, University of Alberta, Edmonton.

The teams of the Major League in Hockey are lining up for the big fray. In Winnipeg the Maroons and Rangers are chasing the puck like weasels. The roll call of the former is 18 and for the Rangers 19. Those 37 players call for big wages, averaging nearly $5000 each. But those boys have to earn their money. They have to be good players, and keep good, to hold their jobs.

AVONGLEN NOTES

Mrs. Fred Clark of Orbindale, spent the week-end with Mrs. Osterhout and took in the Ladies' Aid bazaar.

Mrs. L. Hager and son Roy are in Edmonton for medical treatment.

Mrs. Wm. Prior left last week for a visit at the coast.

Messrs. Timbers and Fillion gave a lecture and super health dinner at the home of Mrs. S. M. New on Wednesday evening of last week. They are giving one at the home of Mrs. Senard on Tuesday evening of this week.

Mrs. Chase Marjorie, Lloyd Allen and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Allen and family were Viking visitors last Saturday. Mrs. Chase Marjorie and Lloyd Allen visited over Sunday at the J. N. Allen home.

A telephone meeting on Saturday evening at Orbindale was well attended by subscribers of lines 5, 6 and 7.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Whitley were Sunday guests at the Shotts' home.

Harmony U.F.W.A. are postponing the November meeting which was to have been held the second Thursday, owing to the hostess, Mrs. J. Marshall being at Westlock visiting relatives.

The meeting, however, will be held at Mrs. J. Marshall's at a later date.

Misses Loretta Senard and Margaret Shotts and Master Lyle Scott met at the home of Mrs. Allen on Saturday to draft a program for the first six months of 1935 for Harmony Junior U.F.W.A.

The joint meeting on Saturday at Avonglen school gave all present an enjoyable evening. A short program was given in the afternoon, after which a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses of Harmony local. A vote of thanks from the visiting ladies brought an enjoyable afternoon to a close.

Messdames New and Whitley and Mr. Goodwin spent the week-end in the city.

Something to worry about—female frogs have no voice, and only the males can sing.

"I am putting my whole mind into writing a poem," said one of the high school boys to one of the girls in the library. "Then I suppose it will be blank verse," she replied.

If everybody would wear the smile that they wear when their photograph is taken, what a cheerful world this would be, says a careful observer.

Heard at the men's poker party—"I find that radio is a great help in the house." "Do you enjoy the programs?" "It isn't that, but when my wife is bawling me out the neighbors just think its another radio program."

That butcher is giving us short weight for our money," said a lady at Jarrow to her husband. "Well, I'll give him a long wait for his to even it up," he replied.

ONE disadvantage of selling by mail is that you have no opportunity of seeing and getting to know, as individuals, the people whom you are serving.

In our great City stores, our salespeople meet their customers face to face. They talk to them—get to know them—learn their likes and dislikes—are able to help them in their little problems of buying. Gradually, there is built up between the customer and ourselves a personal, friendly relationship that we value more than "much fine gold." But in the Mail Order end of things, such contact is almost impossible. Dealing with customers often thousands of miles away, we have little opportunity of cultivating that personal relationship which we value so highly, and which can be so greatly helpful to the customer.

That is why we are always so happy to receive—as we so often do—"personal" letters from our Western friends. These messages help us to know you better—and because of that to serve you better. We appreciate beyond words the friendly spirit that prompts the writing of such letters—and we value the feeling they express.
